2. CONCLUSION OF THE INSURANCE AND CUSTOMER SERVICE

Product information about the photovoltaic insurance can be downloaded from the Website.

On its Website, GGW also offers the option of purchasing the photovoltaic insurance directly online.

For this, the User enters the risk data to receive an initial indication of the premium. After the input of further data an individual quotation can be requested. When the request is transmitted, the User receives an automatic email containing the product information and terms and conditions. The User can then take out the insurance directly online by clicking on the button "Purchase the insurance".

The booking text, including these General Terms and Conditions, is not stored by GGW and cannot be retrieved once the online booking process has been completed. However, the User can print out his booking data straight after clicking on the button "Request an individual offer".

The data provided for the conclusion of the contract can be managed in the customer area. Here all the documents are available to be downloaded again. In the customer area it is also possible to report claims online.
